

The key features of writing a recount were revisited during cross curricular work on Iceland. Children were asked to write a letter home, recounting the imaginary events of the past week. The letter format was modelled but writing is completely independent. Children completed the task within a single session.

32 Ice street Road
Mantle Hotel,
Iceland,
Ha4 823
20th May 2012

Dear Mum

My ^{week} stay in Iceland is going very well, I've been to great places during my stay at a hotel called Mantle.

The hotel is fabulous, but it's very tiny but also cosy. I've been whale watching aswell and I've been to Iceland's legoland in Reykjavik.

The Whale Watching went well but I was a bit sea sick on the boat. After about ten minutes waiting for a whale to jump up, I finally seen it, a white and black hump back whale, I felt shocked to see one of those, in a life time.

After that, I went and saw legoland.
Do you have any idea how people can make buildings with only tiny lego bricks.

↑
There were loads of big lego buildings
after that, I went to my room and get ready for bed.
Lots of love xxx